NEW QUESTION: 2 Which two statements are true about Oracle Cloud Infrastructure Compute Service? (Choose two.)A. You cannot launch a bare metal server in Oracle Cloud Infrastructure Compute ServiceB. You can attach a block volume in an Availability Domain other than your compute instanceC. You can share custom images across tenancies and regionsD. You can launch a virtual or bare metal instance by using the same LaunchInstance APIAnswer: C, D
Explanation: Explanation Regions and Availability Domains Volumes are only accessible to instances in the same availability domain .You cannot move a volume between availability domains or regions.

NEW QUESTION: 3 What information does the file modules.dep provide?A. A list of modules compiled for this kernel.B. A list of modules the kernel needs to run.C. A list of devices and their module name.D. A list of modules required by each module.E. A list of all modules available to the kernel.Answer: D
Explanation: From the man pages: The modules.dep.bin as generated by module-init-tools depmod, lists the dependencies for every module in the directories under /lib/modules/version, where modules.dep.bin (or the human readable version modules.dep) is also located. It is used by utilities such as modprobe. The binary version will be used by default, if it was generated by a compatible version of depmod, with fallback to the generic modules.dep. These files are not intended for editing or use by any additional utilities as their format is subject to change in the future. You should use the modinfo(8) command to obtain information about modules in a future proof and compatible fashion rather than touching these files.
