NEW QUESTION: 3 Which two functions are associated with a voice gateway? (Choose two.)A. Controls opening and closing of logical channels that are used to carry media streamsB. Interconnects two logically separate VoIP networksC. Switches voice channels between connected analog and digital voice circuitsD. Provides voice-messaging services to connected analog and digital voice circuitsE. Negotiates endpoint capabilitiesAnswer: A,C*Explanation: The basic function of a gateway is to translate between different types of networks. In a VoIP environment, voice gateways are the interface between a VoIP network and the public switched telephone network (PSTN), a private branch exchange (PBX), or analog devices such as fax machines. In its simplest form, a voice gateway has an IP interface and a legacy telephone interface, and it handles the many tasks involved in translating between transmission formats and protocols. The gateway allows communication between the two networks by performing tasks such as Interfacing with the IP network and the PSTN or PBX, Supporting IP call control protocols, Performing call setup and teardown for calls between the VoIP and PSTN networks by terminating and reoriginating the call media and signaling, Providing supplementary services, such as call hold and transfer, Relaying dual tone multifrequency (DTMF) tones, Supporting analog fax and modems over the IP network.
