NEW QUESTION: 1In 2001, Continental Supply Company was formed to provide drilling equipment and supplies to contractors and oilfield production companies located throughout the United States. At the end of 2005, Continental Supply created a wholly owned foreign subsidiary, International Oilfield Incorporated, to begin servicing customers located in the North Sea. International Oilfield maintains its financial statements in a currency known as the local currency unit (LCU). Continental Supply follows U.S. GAAP and its presentation currency is the U.S. dollar. For the years 2005 through 2008, the weighted-average and year-end exchange rates, stated in terms of local currency per U.S. dollar, were as follows: International Oilfield accounts for its inventory using the lower-of-cost-or-market valuation method in conjunction with the first-in, first-out, cost flow assumption. All of the inventory on hand at the beginning of the year was sold during 2008. Inventory remaining at the end of 2008 was acquired evenly throughout the year. At the beginning of 2006, International Oilfield purchased equipment totaling LCU 975 million when the exchange rate was LCU 1.00 to $1. During 2007, equipment with an original cost of LCU 108 million was totally destroyed in a fire. At the end of 2007, International Oilfield received a LCU 92 million insurance settlement for the loss. On June 30, 2008, International Oilfield purchased equipment totaling LCU 225 million when the exchange rate was LCU 1.25 to $1. For the years 2007 and 2008, Continental Supply reported International Oilfield revenues in its consolidated income statement of $375 million and $450 million, respectively. There were no inter-company transactions. Following are International Oilfield's balance sheets at the end of 2007 and 2008: At the end of 2008, International Oilfield's retained earnings account was equal to $525 million and, to date, no dividends have been paid. All of International Oilfield's capital stock was issued at the end of 2005. Compute the cumulative translation adjustment reported on Continental Supply's consolidated balance sheet at the end of 2008 assuming International Oilfield is a relatively self-contained and independent, operation of Continental Supply. A. $298 million. B. -$227 million. C. -$200 million. Answer: B
Explanation: Explanation/Reference: Explanation: Under the all-current method, gains and losses that occur as a result of the translation process do not show up on the income statement but are instead accumulated in a balance sheet account called the cumulative translation adjustment account (CTA). The translation gain or loss in each year is calculated and added to the account, acting like a running total of translation gains and losses. The CTA is simply an equity account on the balance sheet. To compute the CTA for Continental's balance sheet, force the accounting equation ($A = L + E$) to balance with the CTA; $[(120 \text{ million cash and receivables} + 631.3 \text{ million inventory} + 820.7 \text{ million equipment} - 600 \text{ million liabilities}) / 1.50] - $350 \text{ million capital stock} - $525 \text{ retained earnings} = -\227 million . The LCU 350 capital stock was issued at the end of 2005 at an exchange rate of LCU 1 = $1. The $525 retained earnings figure was given in the itxt. (Study Session 6, LOS 23.c)

NEW QUESTION: 2Your company uses OSPF for internal routing. The company will be connected to VendorA via a single dedicated link and to VendorB via redundant dedicated links. Both vendors also use OSPF for internal routing. Which of the following deployments describes the best intra-domain routing practice in this situation?
A. Use IBGP to reach VendorA and EBGP to reach VendorB.
B. Use static routes to reach VendorA and EBGP to reach VendorB.
C. Use static routes to reach both VendorA and VendorB.
D. Connect your company to both VendorA and VendorB using existing OSPF.
E. Redistribute the routes on each link between your company and the vendors to a shared EIGRP routing protocol.
Answer: B

NEW QUESTION: 4ASMLIB is_____.
A. Used to enhance disk I/O performance
B. Used to provide mirroring for ASM disk groups
C. A requirement that manages ASM disks
D. Used to prevent problems with persistent names and permissions after a Linux reboot.
Answer: A
Explanation:ASMLib is an optional support library for the Automatic Storage Management feature of the Oracle Database. Automatic Storage Management (ASM) simplifies database administration and greatly reduces kernel resource usage (e.g. the number of open file descriptors). It eliminates the need for the DBA to directly manage potentially thousands of Oracle database files, requiring only the management of groups of disks allocated to the Oracle Database. ASMLib allows an Oracle Database using ASM more efficient and capable access to the disk groups it is using. Reference: Oracle ASMLib
