NEW QUESTION: 1 On a debian system which of the following would build a boot disk?
A. `makeboot --device /dev/fd0 2.4.18-12`
B. `mkbootdisk /boot/vmlinuz-2.4.18-12`
C. `mkboot --device /dev/fd0 2.4.18-12`
D. `mkboot /boot/vmlinuz-2.4.18-12`
E. `mkboot /dev/floppy`
Answer: C
Explanation: `mkboot` creates a boot floppy appropriate for the running system. The boot disk is entirely self-contained, and includes an initial ramdisk image which loads any necessary SCSI modules for the system. The created boot disk looks for the root filesystem on the device suggested by `/etc/fstab`. The only required argument is the kernel version to put onto the boot floppy. Syntax: `mkbootdisk [options] kernel version`. By default `mkboot` creates the boot disk on first floppy device. If you want to specify the device use the `--device` option. In debian you should specify the kernel filename which resides on `/boot`.

A. Cache is being dumped.

Answer: Explanation: Explanation A PFX file contains the public key file (SSL Certificate) and its unique private key file. This is required for HTTPS access. The web app will distribute the public key (in a CER file) to clients that connect to the web app. The CER file is an SSL Certificate which has the public key of the external service. The external service will have the private key associated with the public key contained in the CER file.
