NEW QUESTION: 1Your network contains several Windows Server 2008 R2 servers that run Windows Server Update Services (WSUS). The WSUS servers distribute updates to all computers on the internal network. Remote users connect from their personal computers to the internal network by using a split-tunnel VPN connection. You need to plan a strategy for patch management that deploys updates on the remote users' computers. Your strategy must meet the following requirements: - Minimize bandwidth use over the VPN connections - Require updates to be approved on the WSUS servers before they are installed on the client computers. What should you include in your plan? A. Deploy an additional WSUS server. Configure the remote users' computers to use the additional WSUS server. Configure the additional WSUS server to leave the updates on the Microsoft Update Web site. B. Create a custom connection by using the Connection Manager Administration Kit (CMAK). Deploy the custom connection to all of the remote users' computers. C. Create a Group Policy object (GPO) to perform clientside targeting. D. Create a computer group for the remote users' computers.
