(Select TWO).A. Scan the ISP's customer networks using an up-to-date vulnerability scanner.B. Block traffic with an IP source not allocated to customers from exiting the ISP's network.C. Prevent the ISP's customers from querying DNS servers other than those hosted by the ISP.D. Notify customers when services they run are involved in an attack.E. Block traffic from the ISP's networks destined for blacklisted IPs.Answer: B,DExplanation:ExplanationSince DDOS attacks can originate from many different devices and thus makes it harder to defend against, one way to limit the company's contribution to DDOS attacks is to notify customers about any DDOS attack when they run services that are under attack. NoB. YesAnswer: AExplanation:Explanation/Reference:Explanation:Adprep just prepares the domain for Window Server 2016, it does not actually raise the domain functional level to Windows Server 2016, which is required for Device Registration.Note: Adprep.exe is a command-line tool that is included on the installation disk of each version of Windows Server. Adprep.exe performs operations that must be completed on the domain controllers that run in an existing Active Directory environment before you can add a domain controller that runs that version of Windows Server.Adprep.exe commands run automatically as needed as part of the AD DS installation process on servers that run Windows Server 2012 or later. The commands need to run in the following cases:Before you add the first domain controller that runs a version of Windows Server that is later than the latest version that is running in your existing domain.

Before you upgrade an existing domain controller to a later version of Windows Server, if that domain controller will be the first domain controller in the domain or forest to run that version of Windows Server. References:
