NEW QUESTION: 3 You are creating an application using Visual Studio 2010. The application consumes a Windows Communication Foundation (WCF) service. You are adding a service reference to the WCF service. You need to ensure that the generated proxy does not block the calling thread when executing a service method. What should you do when adding the service reference?
A. Set the Collection type to ObservableCollection.
B. Select the Always generate message contracts option.
C. Select the Generate asynchronous operations option.
D. Select the Reuse types in all referenced assemblies option.
Answer: C
Explanation: Explanation/Reference: The Configure Service Reference dialog box enables you to configure the behavior of Windows Communication Foundation (WCF) services. To access the Configure Service Reference dialog box, right-click a service reference in Solution Explorer and choose Configure Service Reference. You can also access the dialog box by clicking the Advanced button in the Add Service Reference Dialog Box. To change the address where a WCF service is hosted, enter the new address in the Address field. To change the access level for classes in a WCF client, select an access-level keyword in the Access level for generated classes list. To call the methods of a WCF service asynchronously, select the Generate asynchronous operations checkbox. To generate message contract types in a WCF client, select the Always generate message contracts check box. To specify list or dictionary collection types for a WCF client, select the types from the Collection type and Dictionary collection type lists. To disable type sharing, clear the Reuse types in referenced assemblies check box. To enable type sharing for a subset of referenced assemblies, select the Reuse types in referenced assemblies check box, select Reuse types in specified referenced assemblies, and select the desired references in the Referenced assemblies list.

NEW QUESTION: 4 HOTSPOT The security administrator has installed a new firewall which implements an implicit DENY policy by default. Click on the firewall and configure it to allow ONLY the following communication. 1. The Accounting workstation can ONLY access the web server on the public network over the default HTTPS port. The accounting workstation should not access other networks. 2. The HR workstation should be restricted to communicate with the Financial server ONLY, over the default SCP port. 3. The Admin workstation should ONLY be able to access the servers on the secure network over the default TFTP port. Instructions: The firewall will process the rules in a top-down manner in order as a first match. The port number must be typed in and only one port number can be entered per rule. Type ANY for all ports. The original firewall configuration can be reset at any time by pressing the reset button. Once you have met the simulation requirements, click save and then Done to submit. Answer: Explanation: Explanation: Implicit deny is the default security stance that says if you aren't specifically granted access or privileges for a resource, you're denied access by default. Rule #1 allows the Accounting workstation to ONLY access the web server on the public network over the default HTTPS port, which is TCP port 443. Rule #2 allows the HR workstation to ONLY communicate with the Financial server over the default SCP port, which is TCP Port 22. Rule #3 & Rule #4 allow the Admin workstation to ONLY access the Financial and Purchasing servers located on the secure network over the default TFTP port, which is Port 69.
