Answer: A

NEW QUESTION: 2 Your network contains two servers named Server1 and Server2 that run Windows Server 2012 R2. Server1 is a DHCP server that is configured to have a scope named Scope1. Server2 is configured to obtain an IP address automatically. In Scope1, you create a reservation named Res_Server2 for Server2. A technician replaces the network adapter on Server2. You need to ensure that Server2 can obtain the same IP address. What should you modify on Server1?A. The Advanced settings of Res_Server2B. The Network Access Protection Settings of Scope1C. The Name Protection settings of Scope1D. The MAC address of Res_Server2Answer: D*Explanation: DHCP reservations are given based upon MAC address (at least on IPv4/DHCPv4). For clients that require a constant IP address, you can either manually configure a static IP address, or assign a reservation on the DHCP server. Reservations are permanent lease assignments that are used to ensure that a specified client on a subnet can always use the same IP address. You can use DHCP reservations for hosts that require a consistent IP address, but do not need to be statically configured. DHCP reservations provide a mechanism by which IP addresses may be permanently assigned to a specific client based on the MAC address of that client. The MAC address of a Windows client can be found running the ipconfig /all command. For Linux systems the corresponding command is ifconfig -a. Once the MAC address has been identified, the reservation may be configured using either the DHCP console or at the command prompt using the netsh tool. Media access control (MAC) address authorization functions in the same way as automatic number identification (ANI) authorization, but it is used for wireless clients and clients connecting to your network by using an 802.1X authenticating switch. Since the network adapter was replaced, you need to modify the MAC address on Server1 to ensure that Server2 can obtain the same IP address. NEW QUESTION: 3Your role of Systems Administrator at ABC.com includes the management of the company's private cloud. The company has a System Center 2012 infrastructure that includes System Center 2012 Service Manager (SCSM). You use Service Manager for Service Level Management. You need to create a service level objective (SLO) in Service Manager for incidents that meet the following criteria: Priority = 1 Incident Category = Email Problem Assigned User = Empty What should be your first step? A. You should first create a Queue. B. You should first create a Connector. C. You should first create a Service Template. D. You should first create a Query. Answer: A Explanation: C. SLO needs queue first (queue creates the relationship between incident type, priority and metric/escalation path) here is additional information to support the answer C (queue). The first paragraph under "Queue:" seems to reference this question directly.

<http://blogs.technet.com/b/servicemanager/archive/2012/01/25/scsm-2012-service-level-management.aspx> Queues: With queues you can group different work items in Service Manager (SCSM 2010 and SCSM 2012) by criteria. For instance: All Incidents with Priority 2 AND Incident Category "Mail Problem" AND Assigned User is empty. Queues are used in SCSM 2012 SLA Management to apply the SLA to a group of work items. SCSM 2012 console -> Library -> Queues"
