NEW QUESTION: 2The Platform for Privacy Preferences (P3P) was developed by the WorldWide Web Consortium (W3C) for what purpose?A. To implement public key cryptography for transactionsB. To implement privacy practices on Web sitesC. To monitor usersD. To evaluate a client's privacy practicesAnswer: B*Explanation:As of this writing, the latest W3C working draft of P3P is P3P 1.0, 28January, 2002 (www.w3.org/TR). An excerpt of the W3C P3P Specification states P3P enables Web sites to express their privacypractices in a standard format that can be retrieved automatically andinterpreted easily by user agents. P3P user agents will allow users to be informed of site practices (in both machine- and human-readable formats) and to automate decision-making based on these practiceswhen appropriate. Thus users need not read the privacy policies atevery site they visit.With P3, an organization can post its privacy policy in machinereadable form (XML) on its Web site. This policy statement includes:Who has access to collected informationThe type of information collectedHow the information is usedThe legal entity making the privacy statementP3P also supports user agents that allow a user to configure aP3P-enabled Web browser with the user's privacy preferences. Then,when the user attempts to access a Web site, the user agentcompares the user's stated preferences with the privacy policy inmachine-readable form at the Web site. Access will be granted if thepreferences match the policy. Otherwise, either access to the Web sitewill be blocked or a pop-up window will appear notifying the userthat he/she must change their privacy preferences. Usually, thismeansthat the user has to lower his/her privacy threshold. The other answers are distracters.
