Which of the following would allow a third-party consultant to conduct an on-site review of the administrator's activity?A. Separation of dutiesB. Mandatory vacationC. Job rotationD. Continuous monitoringAnswer: B*Explanation:A method of preventing fraud which provides you with an opportunity to review employees' activities. The typical mandatory vacation policy requires that employees take at least one vacation a year in a full-week increment so that they are away from work for at least five days in a row. During that time, your corporate audit and security teams have time to investigate and discover any discrepancies in employee activity. When employees understand the security focus of the mandatory vacation policy, the risk of fraudulent activities decreases.
