NEW QUESTION: 1As a network administrator, if you are experiencing intermittent security issues what is the first thing you should do?A. Define a solutionB. Isolate the problemC. Consider alternative solutionsD. Try obvious fixesAnswer: B*Explanation: Intermittent problems require isolation before any solution can be found. It is important to limit possible causes. This is done by isolating the network segment. By slowly removing each possible culprit you eventually will have isolated the actual problem. Answer option B is incorrect. You cannot define a solution if you have not isolated the problem. Answer option A is incorrect. Once you have isolated the problem, you can then attempt obvious fixes. Answer option D is incorrect. Alternative solutions should be considered after you have isolated the problem and tried obvious fixes.

NEW QUESTION: 2You are developing a data storage solution for a social networking app. The solution requires a mobile app that stores user information using Azure Table Storage. You need to develop code that can insert multiple sets of user information. How should you complete the code? To answer, select the appropriate options in the answer area. NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.Answer: Explanation:
