you to carry out a forensic analysis of the compromised Linux system. Together with the log files of logins into the compromised system from unauthorized IPs and the timestamps for those files that were modified around the time that the compromise occurred will serve as useful forensic tools. Incorrect Answers: B: Checking for fragmented memory segments' is not a forensic analysis tool to be used in this case. C: The ```/etc/shadow"`, contains encrypted password as well as other information such as account or password expiration values, etc. The `/etc/shadow` file is readable only by the root account. This is a useful tool for Linux passwords and shadow file formats and is in essence used to keep user account information. E: Isof is used on Linux as a file timestamp tool and not a forensic analysis tool. F: Gpg is an encryption tool that works on Mac OS X. H: vmstat reports information about processes, memory, paging, block IO, traps, and cpu activity. The first report produced gives averages since the last reboot. Additional reports give information on a sampling period of length delay. The process and memory reports are instantaneous in either case. This is more of an administrator tool.
