Explanation: IBM Analysis Foundational Knowledge slide 8: On the left we have the majority of employees in an organization, people looking to find fast answers to business questions. They're asking one more question beyond simple reporting to get additional insights such as why is this customer performing poorly? What analysis has been made? It's the simplest of analysis we call analytical reporting. It can be summed up in one simple word, real. We want to reach all these users in Cognos BI with the licenses in consumers, business authors, and BI professional owners. The next group has slightly more requirement. They're looking for factors driving performance. The up and down trend of performance likely is the percentage of growth in one company greater than another? Their job isn't 100% doing analysis, but they certainly want to slice and dice the data more than the first group. We want to reach these users with more advanced capabilities of Cognos 8 BI with licenses of advanced business author, BI professional, maybe Cognos analysis for Microsoft Excel.
