NEW QUESTION: 1Contoso, Ltd., has an Office 365 tenant. You configure Office 365 to use the domain contoso.com, and you verify the domain. You deploy and configure Active Directory Federation Services (AD FS) and Azure Active Directory Connect with password synchronization. You connect to Azure Active Directory by using a Remote PowerShell session. You need to switch from using password-synced passwords to using AD FS on the Office 365 verified domain. Which Windows PowerShell command should you run?A.

Set-MsolDomainAuthentication -DomainName contoso.comB.

Convert-MsolDomainToStandard -DomainName contoso.comC.

Convert-MsolDomainToFederated -DomainName contoso.comD. Convert-MsolFederatedUser

Answer: CExplanation: The Convert-MSOLDomainToFederated cmdlet converts the specified domain from standard authentication to single sign-on (also known as identity federation), including configuring the relying party trust settings between the Active Directory Federation Services (AD FS) server and the Microsoft Online Services. As part of converting a domain from standard authentication to single sign-on, each user must also be converted. This conversion happens automatically the next time a user signs in; no action is required by the administrator. NEW QUESTION: 2What filter CANNOT be used to narrow the analysis scope? Please choose the correct answer. Response: A. Dimension filter B. Story filter C. Model filter D. Page filter Answer: C

NEW QUESTION: 3--- A. Option A B. Option C C. Option D D. Option B Answer: B, DExplanation: *When performing multicast deployments, the image is copied and then applied. However, when using unicast functionality, the image is applied over the network and is not copied to the client computer. All data is sent in compressed blocks of data. When these data blocks are received, the data is expanded and written to the disk. *WDS uses unicast to send images to clients by default. If you are only imaging 1 or 2 computers, that's fine; however if you needed to image 50 computers at once, it would cause enormous amounts of traffic. That is where the multicast comes in. With WDS, multicast uses a 'round robin' approach. Computers can join the multicast whenever they want and if they miss out on the first 100 packets, they will get them next time around. This means that you can set up 50 computers, start them at the same time, and the image will get sent once, but will be received by all 50 computers. This greatly reduces network bandwidth utilization and speeds up imaging performance when imaging large numbers of machines. (not D)*As an example, imagine you need to deploy Windows 7 Ultimate to 10 clients. If you used 10 unicast transmissions at the same time, the WDS server would try to send 10 different images to these clients. Each transmission would be competing with the others for network bandwidth, and each would be consuming additional resources on the server. (B) However, if you configured a multicast transmission, you could deploy a single image to all 10 clients simultaneously. Only a single image is being sent over the network and being processed by the server.
