NEW QUESTION: 2You have an Azure Active Directory (Azure AD) tenant that contains the users shown in the following table.From Azure AD Privileged Identity Management (PIM), you configure the settings for the Security Administrator role as shown in the following exhibit. From PIM, you assign the Security Administrator role to the following groups:* Group1: Active assignment type, permanently assigned* Group2: Eligible assignment type, permanently eligibleFor each of the following statements, select Yes if the statement is true. Otherwise, select No.NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.Answer: Explanation:Explanation: Box 1: YesEligible Type: A role assignment that requires a user to perform one or more actions to use the role. If a user has been made eligible for a role, that means they can activate the role when they need to perform privileged tasks. There's no difference in the access given to someone with a permanent versus an eligible role assignment. The only difference is that some people don't need that access all the time.You can choose from two assignment duration options for each assignment type (eligible and active) when you configure settings for a role. These options become the default maximum duration when a user is assigned to the role in Privileged Identity Management.Use the Activation maximum duration slider to set the maximum time, in hours, that a role stays active before it expires. This value can be from one to 24 hours.Box 2: YesActive Type: A role assignment that doesn't require a user to perform any action to use the role. Users assigned as active have the privileges assigned to the role Box 3: Yes User3 is member of Group2.Reference: <https://docs.microsoft.com/en-us/azure/active-directory/privileged-identity-management/pim-configure> <https://docs.microsoft.com/bs-cyrl-ba/azure/active-directory/privileged-identity-management/pim-resource-roles-configure-role-settings>

NEW QUESTION: 4 Your company has been using AWS for the past 2 years. They have separate S3 buckets for logging the various AWS services that have been used. They have hired an external vendor for analyzing their log files. They have their own AWS account. What is the best way to ensure that the partner account can access the log files in the company account for analysis. Choose 2 answers from the options given below Please select:A. Ensure the IAM Role has access for read-only to the S3 bucketsB. Ensure the IAM user has access for read-only to the S3 bucketsC. Create an IAM Role in the company accountD. Create an IAM user in the company accountAnswer: A,C*Explanation:The AWS Documentation mentions the following To share log files between multiple AWS accounts, you must perform the following general steps. These steps are explained in detail later in this section. Create an IAM role for each account that you want to share log files with. For each of these IAM roles, create an access policy that grants read-only access to the account you want to share the log files with. Have an IAM user in each account programmatically assume the appropriate role and retrieve the log files. Options A and C are invalid because creating an IAM user and then sharing the IAM user credentials with the vendor is a direct 'NO' practise from a security perspective. For more information on sharing cloudtrail logs files, please visit the following URL <https://docs.aws.amazon.com/awscloudtrail/latest/userguide/cloudtrail-share-logs.html> The correct answers are: Create an IAM Role in the company account Ensure the IAM Role has access for read-only to the S3 buckets Submit your Feedback/Queries to our Experts
