NEW QUESTION: 1You are deciding which of these solutions to propose to a customer:1.HP Helion CloudSystem Built on ConvergedSystem 700x2.HP ConvergedSystem 700 with Helion CloudSystem SoftwareWhich characteristic qualifies a customer for the first solution rather than the second?A. The customer wants to speed the installation and deployment of the solution.B. The customer needs a flexible solution that supports Microsoft Hyper-V hypervisors.C. The customer's primary goal is to find a platform to develop cloud-native apps.D. The customer expects to have a mix of traditional and cloud-native apps and wants to bridge the two.Answer: C

NEW QUESTION: 2Which two statements are true when comparing ESMTP and SMTP? (Choose two.)A. A mail sender identifies itself as only able to support SMTP by issuing an EHLO command to the mail server.B. ESMTP servers can identify the maximum email size they can receive by using the SIZE command.C. SMTP commands must be in upper case, whereas ESMTP can be either lower or upper case.D. ESMTP mail servers will respond to an EHLO with a list of the additional extensions they support.E. Only SMTP inspection is provided on the Cisco ASA firewall.Answer: B,DExplanation:EHLO is just like HELO except that the server's response text provides computer-readable information about the server's abilities. Here is what happens if the server accepts EHLO (required code 250). On the first response line, the text begins with the server's name. On each response line past the first, the text is an extension, followed optionally by a space and an argument, followed optionally by a space and another argument, etc. The extension is a nonempty string of letters, digits, and hyphens. Each argument is a nonempty string of graphical ASCII characters. If the server supports EHLO, the client can use EHLO instead of HELO as its first request. (Note that sendmail's decision of whether to use HELO or EHLO depends on the server's greeting.) On the other hand, if the server does not support EHLO, and the client sends EHLO, the server will reject EHLO. The client then has to fall back to HELO. There are a few servers that disconnect when they see EHLO. If the client finds that neither EHLO nor HELO was accepted, for example because the connection was closed, then it has to make a new connection and start with HELO. The SIZE extension has two purposes:- To give the server an estimate of the size of a message before the message is transmitted.- To warn the client that messages above a certain size will not be accepted. NEW QUESTION: 3Your network contains an Active Directory domain named contoso.com. The domain contains a server named Server1 that runs Windows Server 2012 R2. Server1 has the Remote Access server role installed.You log on to Server1 by using a user account named User2. From the Remote Access Management Console, you run the Getting Started Wizard and you receive a warning message as shown in the exhibit. (Click the Exhibit button.)You need to ensure that you can configure DirectAccess successfully. The solution must minimize the number of permissions assigned to User2. To which group should you add User2? A. Account Operators B. Server Operators C. Enterprise Admins D. Administrators Answer: D Explanation: Explanation/Reference: Explanation: You must have privileges to create WMI filters in the domain in which you want to create the filter. Permissions can be changed by adding a user to the Administrators group. Administrators (A built-in group) After the initial installation of the operating system, the only member of the group is the Administrator account. When a computer joins a domain, the Domain Admins group is added to the Administrators group. When a server becomes a domain controller, the Enterprise Admins group also is added to the Administrators group. The Administrators group has built-in capabilities that give its members full control over the system. The group is the default owner of any object that is created by a member of the group. This example logs in as a test user who is not a domain user or an administrator on the server. This results in the error specifying that DA can only be configured by a user with local administrator permissions.
