NEW QUESTION: 1 You notice that a majority of your Oracle Cloud Infrastructure (OCI) resources like compute instances, block volumes, and load balancers are not tagged. You have received a mandate from your CIO to add a predefined set of tags to identify owners for respective OCI resources. E.g. if Chris and Larry each create compute instances in a compartment, the instances that Chris creates include tags that contain his name as the value, while the instances that Larry creates have his name. Which option is the simplest way to implement this new tagging requirement? A. Create an OCI Identity and Access Management policy requiring users to tag resources with their user name. B. Create a default tag for each compartment, which ensure that appropriate tags are applied at the time of resource creation. C. Create an OCI Identity and Access Management policy to automatically tag a resource with the user name. D. Create tag variables to automatically tag a resource with the user name.
