NEW QUESTION: 2 What are some likely repercussions that could occur as a result of a 51% attack to the Bitcoin network? (Select three.)A. Unplanned ForkB. Double SpendingC.

Cancelling TransactionsD. Planned ForkE. Selfless MiningAnswer: A,B,C Explanation:

The 4 main attacks that can happen directly as a result of the 51% attack are: Selfish mining. Cancelling transactions. Double Spending. Random forks.

NEW QUESTION: 3 Given the following stateless session bean: How would you change the EJB to prevent multiple clients from simultaneously accessing the sayHello method of a single bean instance?A. Execute the call to generateLocalizedHello in a synchronized blockB. No changes are neededC. Convert generateLocalizehello into a synchronized methodD. Convert HelloWordBean into a singleton beanE. Convert sayHello into a synchronized methodAnswer:

E Explanation: * It is not possible for two invocations of synchronized methods on the same object to interleave. When one thread is executing a synchronized method for an object, all other threads that invoke synchronized methods for the same object block (suspend execution) until the first thread is done with the object. * When a synchronized method exits, it automatically establishes a happens-before relationship with any subsequent invocation of a synchronized method for the same object. This guarantees that changes to the state of the object are visible to all threads. Reference: The Java Tutorial, Synchronized Methods
