NEW QUESTION: 3The Williamson Company is using the paired comparison method to appraise performance. There are seven people in the sales job group. With how many people will each member of this group be compared?A. TwoB. SevenC. OneD. SixAnswer: D
Explanation:Explanation: Since the Williamson Company is using the paired comparison method, each member of the sales job group will be compared with six other people. The paired comparison method requires every member of the job group to be compared to every other member. This means that each member of the Williamson Company's sales group will be compared to the other six members. The paired comparison method is a good way to rank employees systematically.
