NEW QUESTION: 1 An application is waiting for notification of changes to a tmp directory using the following code statements: `Path dir = Paths.get("tmp"); WatchKey key = dir.register(watcher, ENTRY_CREATE, ENTRY_DELETE, ENTRY_MODIFY);` In the tmp directory, the user renames the file testA to testB, Which statement is true? A. The events received and the order of events are consistent across all UNIX platforms. B. The events received and the order of events are consistent across all platforms. C. The events received and the order of events are consistent across all Microsoft Windows versions. D. The events received and the order of events are platform dependent. Answer: B Explanation: Most file system implementations have native support for file change notification. The Watch Service API takes advantage of this support where available. However, when a file system does not support this mechanism, the Watch Service will poll the file system, waiting for events. Note: WatchKey : When a Watchable entity is registered with a WatchService a key which is a WatchKey is generated. Initially the key is in ready state waiting to be notified of any events on the Watchable entity. Once an event occurs the key goes into signaled state and allows to access the events using its pollEvents method. After processing the poll events the key has to be reset by invoking its reset method. Reference: The Java Tutorials, Watching a Directory for Changes Given:
