NEW QUESTION: 3 Marie Curie was one of the most accomplished scientists in history. Together with her husband, Pierre, she discovered radium, an element widely used for treating cancer, and studied uranium and other radioactive substances. Pierre and Marie's amicable collaboration later helped to unlock the secrets of the atom. Marie was born in 1867 in Warsaw, Poland, where her father was a professor of physics. At the early age, she displayed a brilliant mind and a blithe personality. Her great exuberance for learning prompted her to continue with her studies after high school. She became disgruntled, however, when she learned that the university in Warsaw was closed to women. Determined to receive a higher education, she defiantly left Poland and in 1891 entered the Sorbonne, a French university, where she earned her master's degree and doctorate in physics. Marie was fortunate to have studied at the Sorbonne with some of the greatest scientists of her day, one of whom was Pierre Curie. Marie and Pierre were married in 1895 and spent many productive years working together in the physics laboratory. A short time after they discovered radium, Pierre was killed by a horse-drawn wagon in 1906. Marie was stunned by this horrible misfortune and endured heartbreaking anguish. Espontently she recalled their close relationship and the joy that they had shared in scientific research. The fact that she had two young daughters to raise by herself greatly increased her distress. Curie's feeling of desolation finally began to fade when she was asked to succeed her husband as a physics professor at the Sorbonne. She was the first woman to be given a professorship at the world-famous university. In 1911 she received the Nobel Prize in chemistry for isolating radium. Although Marie Curie eventually suffered a fatal illness from her long exposure to radium, she never became disillusioned about her work. Regardless of the consequences, she had dedicated herself to science and to revealing the mysteries of the physical world. Her ____ began to fade when she returned to the Sorbonne to succeed her husband. A. misfortune B. wretchedness C. anger D. disappointment E. ambition Answer: B

NEW QUESTION: 4 Your network contains an Active Directory forest. All domain controllers run Windows Server 2008 R2 and are configured as DNS servers. You have an Active Directory-integrated zone for contoso.com. You have a Unix-based DNS server. You need to configure your Windows Server 2008 R2 environment to allow zone transfers of the contoso.com zone to the Unix-based DNS server. What should you do in the DNS Manager console? A. Create a secondary zone B. Enable BIND secondaries C. Create a stub zone D. Disable recursion Answer: B Explanation:

<http://skibbz.com/understanding-of-advance-properties-settings-in-window-server-2003-and-2008-dnsserver-bind-secondaries/> Understanding Of Advance Properties Settings In Window Server 2003 And 2008 DNS Server (BIND Secondaries) BIND Secondaries controls the zone transfer between different vendor DNS server. It help verifies the type of format used zone transfer, whether it is fast or slow transfer (zone transfer). The full mean of BIND is Berkeley Internet Name domain (BIND). BIND is a based on UNIX operating system. Two window servers do not required BIND. BIND is only required when transfer dns zone between two different dns server vendors (UNIX and Microsoft Window). If you are using only Window server for dns and zone transfer you will have to disable this option in the window dns server. However if you want the server to perform a slow zone transfer and uncompressed data transfer then you will have to enable BIND in the dns server. To reiterate, BIND only provide slow dns zone transfer and data compression mechanism for DNS server. BIND is understood to have been introduced in window server to support UNIX. System admin will normally disable this option if they want the data in their dns zone transfer to between primary and secondary dns server to be transfer faster in order to improve dns queries efficiency within their network environment Bind is used in a DNS window server, when the needs to configured zone transfer between window server and UNIX server or operative system. Bind is enabled when a window server is configured as a primary dns server and a UNIX computer is configured as a secondary dns server for zone transfer. BIND Secondaries need to be configured to mitigate, the problem of interoperability between the two server operating system since they are from different vendors. Note that old version of the BIND was noted to be very slow and uses an uncompressed zone transfer format. However, BIND in window server 2008 and later has improved this problem. This is because it was noted that BIND in window server 2008 and later uses faster, compressed format during zone transfer between primary and secondary DNS server configured in for different server operating system (UNIX and Window server).
