Step 2 Use a separate line to enter the values for each phone, IP telephony device, or user combination that you want to add to Cisco Unified Communications Manager. You must create separate CSV files for each type of device. Keep in mind the following rules when you create the CSV data file. Always include comma separators, even if a field is blank. Specify the user ID if the phone is to be associated to a user. Directory Number fields are optional only when you are creating the CSV file for use with a BAT template that has no lines. If lines are configured on the BAT phone template, you must supply directory numbers in the CSV file for each device. An error occurs when you insert a CSV file with blank lines.
