NEW QUESTION: 3 A highly available IBM Content Platform Engine (CPE) environment is configured on WebSphere Application Server Network Deployment (WAS-ND). The WAS-ND cluster consists of four CPE JVMs. A hardware load balancer is being used to spread the http/https traffic across the four JVMs. A workplace XM deployment is configured to point to this CPE cluster. Assuming everything is active, which of the following are the two best choices for validating the environment? (Choose two.)
A. Logon to Workplace XM and begin performing work. Shutdown each of the CPE JVMs so that at least two of them are active at any one time. Continue testing and checking for errors for at least one hour.
B. View the Content Engine Web Service (CEWS) page of the load balancer (http://<load balancer virtual name>:<virtual port>/wsi/FNCEWS40MTOM. Continue to refresh this page as each CPE JVM is cycled through. View the CEWS page of each JVM and compare the results.C. Shut down three of the four CPE JVMs. Logon to Workplace XT and begin performing work. While this is occurring, start each of the stopped JVMs one at a time and stop the running one.D. View the CPE ping page (<http://<load balancer virtual name>:<virtual port>/FileNet/Engine>) of the load balancer. Continue to refresh this page until all four of the JVMs are viewed. View the startup context name of each JVM and compare the results.E. Disable three of the four CPE JVMs. Logon to Workplace XM and begin performing work. While this is occurring, enable each of the disabled JVMs one at a time and stop the running one.Answer: A,B

NEW QUESTION: 4You need to display a text value based on variance data in an ASO database. If the variance percentage is less than 10, users should see "Low Priority," if the variance percentage is between 11 and 25, users should see "Medium Priority," and if the variance percentage is greater than 25, users should see High Priority." The Essbase feature that supports this capability is:A. Not possible in an ASO databaseB. Text data type of a measureC. Format stringD. TriggerE. Text ListAnswer: C*Explanation:Explanation/Reference:Using format strings, you can format the values (cell contents) of Essbase database members in numeric type measures so that they appear, for query purposes, as text, dates, or other types of predefined values.The resultant display value is the cell's formatted value (FORMATTED_VALUE property in MDX).The underlying real value is numeric, and this value is unaffected by the associated formatted value.Format strings enable you to display more meaningful values in place of raw numeric values. For example, using a text based formatted value, you might display data cells as "High," "Medium," and "Low." To use a format string you just have enable types measures on your outline, then in the member properties for "Associate format string" use the syntax :- MdxFormat (string_value_expression)A simple example isMdxFormat(IIF(CellValue() < 0,"Negative","Positive"))Incorrect answers:A text list In Essbase is an object that stores text values mapped to numeric identifiers. Text Lists enable the use of text measures.
