NEW QUESTION: 1Which of the following is NOT an advantage of block media recovery (BMR)?
A. A and CB. Datafiles remain offline while corrupt blocks are repaired.C. Datafiles remain online while corrupt blocks are repaired.D. Reduced MTTR.Answer: B
Explanation:
Explanation/Reference:Explanation:Overview of Block Media Recovery (link)Purpose of Block Media RecoveryYou can use block media recovery to recover one or more corrupt data blocks within a data file. Block media recovery provides the following advantages over data file media recovery:Lowers the mean time to recover (MTTR) because only blocks needing recovery are restored andrecoveredEnables affected data files to remain online during recoveryWithout block media recovery, if even a single block is corrupt, then you must take the data file offline and restore a backup of the data file. You must apply all redo generated for the data file after the backup was created. The entire file is unavailable until media recovery completes. With block media recovery, only the blocks actually being recovered are unavailable during the recovery.Block media recovery is most useful for physical corruption problems that involve a small, well-known number of blocks. Block-level data loss usually results from intermittent, random I/O errors that do not cause widespread data loss, and memory corruptions that are written to disk. Block media recovery is not intended for cases where the extent of data loss or corruption is unknown and the entire data file requires recovery. In such cases, data file media recovery is the best solution.

Explanation:ExplanationA rootkit is a collection of computer software, typically malicious, designed to enable access to a computer or areas of its softwarethat would not otherwise be allowed (for example, to an unauthorized user) while at the same time masking its existence or the existence of other software. A bootkit is similar to a rootkit except the malware infects the master boot record on a hard disk.Malicious software such as bootkits or rootkits typically require administrative privileges to be installed. Therefore, one method of preventing such attacks is to remove administrative access for local users. A common source of malware infections is portable USB flash drives. The flash drives are often plugged into less secure computers such as a user's home computer and then taken to work and plugged in to a work computer. We can prevent this from happening by restricting or disabling access to USB devices.
