NEW QUESTION: 1A. Option AB. Option EC. Option CD. Option DE. Option B Answer: E
Explanation: The AuditLogAgeLimit parameter of the Set-Mailbox cmdlet allows you to stipulate how long audit logs for a mailbox are retained. Logs older than the specified period are removed. The default value is 90 days. To meet the requirements in this question, we need to configure a litigation hold on the mailbox. Place a mailbox on Litigation Hold to preserve all mailbox content, including deleted items and original versions of modified items. When you place a user's mailbox on Litigation Hold, content in the user's archive mailbox (if it's enabled) is also placed on hold. Deleted and modified items are preserved for a specified period, or until you remove the mailbox from Litigation Hold. To place a mailbox on litigation hold, we use the Set-Mailbox cmdlet. For example: Set-Mailbox [email#160;protected] -LitigationHoldEnabled $true -LitigationHoldDuration 60

NEW QUESTION: 2 Your network contains an Active Directory domain. All client computers run Windows XP Service Pack 3 (SP3). The domain contains a member server named Server1 that runs Windows Server 2008 R2. On Server1, you create a connection security rule that requires authentication for inbound and outbound connections. You configure the connection security rule to use Kerberos authentication. You need to ensure that the client computers can connect to Server1. The solution must ensure that all connections to Server1 are encrypted. What should you do? A. From the Windows Firewall with Advanced Security console, create an outbound rule on Server1. B. From the Windows Firewall with Advanced Security console, create an inbound rule on Server1. C. From a Group Policy object (GPO), enable the Client (Respond Only) IPsec policy on all client computers. D. From a Group Policy object (GPO), configure the Network Security: LDAP client signing requirements policy setting for all client computers. Answer: C

NEW QUESTION: 3 Your company has been using AWS for hosting EC2 Instances for their web and database applications. They want to have a compliance check to see the following Whether any ports are left open other than admin ones like SSH and RDP Whether any ports to the database server other than ones from the web server security group are open Which of the following can help achieve this in the easiest way possible. You don't want to carry out an extra configuration changes? Please select: A. AWS Trusted Advisor B. AWS Config C. AWS Inspector D. AWS Guard Duty Answer: A Explanation: Trusted Advisor checks for compliance with the following security recommendations: Limited access to common administrative ports to only a small subset of addresses. This includes ports 22 (SSH), 23 (Telnet) 3389 (RDP), and 5500 (VNC). Limited access to common database ports. This includes ports 1433 (MSSQL Server), 1434 (MSSQL Monitor), 3306 (MySQL), Oracle (1521) and 5432 (PostgreSQL). Option A is partially correct but then you would need to write custom rules for this. The AWS trusted advisor can give you all of these checks on its dashboard Option C is incorrect. Amazon Inspector needs a software agent to be installed on all EC2 instances that are included in the assessment target, the security of which you want to evaluate with Amazon Inspector. It monitors the behavior of the EC2 instance on which it is installed, including network, file system, and process activity, and collects a wide set of behavior and configuration data (telemetry), which it then passes to the Amazon Inspector service. Our question's requirement is to choose a choice that is easy to implement. Hence Trusted Advisor is more appropriate for this question. Option D is invalid because this service does not provide these details. For more information on the Trusted Advisor, please visit the following URL <https://aws.amazon.com/premiumsupport/trustedadvisor> The correct answer is: AWS Trusted Advisor Submit your Feedback/Queries to our Experts
