NEW QUESTION: 4Which of the following controls most likely would be effective in offsetting the tendency of sales personnel to maximize sales volume at the expense of high bad debt write-offs?A. Subsidiary accounts receivable records are reconciled to the control account by an employee independent of the authorization of credit.B. Employees responsible for authorizing sales and bad debt write-offs are denied access to cash.C. Employees involved in the credit-granting function are separated from the sales function.D. Shipping documents and sales invoices are matched by an employee who does not have authority to write off bad debts.Answer: CExplanation:Explanation/Reference:Explanation:Choice "C" is correct. Sales personnel will have a tendency to maximize sales volume by selling to customers that may not be creditworthy, thereby resulting in high bad debt write-offs. To prevent sales to customers that may not be creditworthy, employees involved in the credit-granting function are separated from the sales function.Choice "A" is incorrect. Employees responsible for authorizing sales and bad debt write-offs should be denied access to cash to prevent the embezzlement of cash, not to prevent them from maximizing sales volume at the expense of high bad debt write-offs. Choice "B" is incorrect. This control does not affect the sales department or the tendency to maximize sales volume at the expense of high bad debt write-offs.Choice "D" is incorrect. This control does not affect the sales department or the tendency to maximize sales volume at the expense of high bad debt write-offs.
