NEW QUESTION: 3What Has Happened to Gregor?As Gregor Samsa awoke one morning from uneasy dreams he found himself transformed in his bed into a gigantic insect. He was lying on his hard, as it were armor-plated, back and when he lifted his head a little he could see his domelike brown belly divided into stiff arched segments on top of which the bed quilt could hardly keep in position and was about to slide off completely. His numerous legs, which were pitifully thin compared to the rest of his bulk, waved helplessly before his eyes.What has happened to me? he thought. It was no dream. His room, a regular human bedroom, only rather too small, lay quiet between the four familiar walls. Above the table on which a collection of cloth samples was unpacked and spread out - Samsa was a commercial traveler - hung the picture which he had recently cut out of an illustrated magazine and put into a pretty gilt frame. It showed a lady, with a fur cap on and a fur stole, sitting upright and holding out to the spectator a huge fur muff into which the whole of her forearm had vanished!... .He slid down again into his former position. This getting up early, he thought, makes one quite stupid. A man needs his sleep. Other commercials live like harem women. For instance, when I come back to the hotel of a morning to write up the orders I've got, these others are only sitting down to breakfast. Let me just try that with my chief; I'd be sacked on the spot. Anyhow, that might be quite a good thing for me, who can tell? If I didn't have to hold my hand because of my parents I'd have given notice long ago, I'd have gone to the chief and told him exactly what I think of him. That would knock him endways from his desk! It's a queer way of doing, too, this sitting on high at a desk and talking down to employees, especially when they have to come quite near because the chief is hard of hearing. Well, there's still hope; once I've saved enough money to pay back my parents' debts to him - that should take another five or six years - I'll do it without fail. I'll cut myself completely loose then. For the moment, though, I'd better get up, since my train goes at five.- Franz Kafka, from The Metamorphosis (1912) In lines 47-48, Gregor tells himself, "I'd better get up, since my train goes at five." This suggests that A. the other characters in the story are also bugs. B. Gregor is going to be late. C. Gregor has woken up as a bug before and is used to it. D. Gregor does not yet realize how serious his condition is. E. Gregor is still dreaming. Answer: D Explanation: Explanation/Reference: Explanation: Gregor is so preoccupied with work and his routine that he seems to think he can just get up and go to work, even if he appears to be a bug. The tone and word choice in the opening sentence of the passage (which is also the opening sentence of this short story) suggest that this is the first time this happened to Gregor. He also asks, "What has happened to me?" If this had happened before, he would not likely ask that question, and his internal dialogue would be quite different. Thus, choice a is incorrect. There is no evidence in the story that the other characters are also bugs. The woman in the picture, at any rate, is a real woman, not a bug. Choice b is therefore incorrect. The first sentence clearly states that he awoke, so choice c is incorrect. Gregor says "I'd better get up, since my train goes at five," suggesting that he still has time to catch that 5:00 train. Choice d is therefore incorrect.
