NEW QUESTION: 1You want to offer HP Professional Services to a customer who is purchasing HP Helion OpenStack, but the customer is considering purchasing services from another services organization. Which value-adds should you emphasize? (Select two.) A. HP provides a comprehensive warranty, which decreases the customer's risk. B. HP has a deep knowledge of both cloud and open source technology such as OpenStack. C. HP is the best option for support because only HP can understand its own proprietary technologies. D. HP can provide support for the customer's offices in all regions. E. HP will guarantee that it can provide services at a much lower cost than the services organization. Answer: A, B Explanation: Open source is often times a great solution for the enterprise that is concerned with cost and vendor locking. However, to successfully deploy an open source solution inside the enterprise and understand the full range of customization and features is often daunting. The HP Helion Professional Services have a deep knowledge of OpenStack and CloudFoundry and are best positioned to help organizations be successful in the new cloud era by providing implementation support and consulting for very specific customer needs.
