NEW QUESTION: 1Due to compliance regulations, a company requires a yearly penetration test. The Chief Information Security Officer (CISO) has asked that it be done under a black box methodology. Which of the following would be the advantage of conducting this kind of penetration test? A. The results should reflect what attackers may be able to learn about the company. B. Using documentation provided to them, the pen-test organization can quickly determine areas to focus on. C. The risk of unplanned server outages is reduced. D. The results will show an in-depth view of the network and should help pin-point areas of internal weakness. Answer: A Explanation: A black box penetration test is usually done when you do not have access to the code, much the same like an outsider/attacker. This is then the best way to run a penetration test that will also reflect what an attacker/outsider can learn about the company. A black box test simulates an outsiders attack.

NEW QUESTION: 2You store historic data in Cloud Storage. You need to perform analytics on the historic data. You want to use a solution to detect invalid data entries and perform data transformations that will not require programming or knowledge of SQL. What should you do? A. Use Cloud Dataflow with Beam to detect errors and perform transformations. B. Use Cloud Dataproc with a Hadoop job to detect errors and perform transformations. C. Use federated tables in BigQuery with queries to detect errors and perform transformations. D. Use Cloud Dataprep with recipes to detect errors and perform transformations. Answer: D

NEW QUESTION: 3Which three statements are true concerning the Automatic Workload Repository (AWR) in a RAC environment? A. The `awr_snapshot_time_offset` parameter specifies the number of seconds each instance waits after the top of the hour before taking its AWR snapshot. B. Taking an AWR snapshot in a RAC database captures data from the local instance only. C. Data captured by an AWR is aggregated across all instances before being stored in the database. D. AWR snapshots are created when `control_management_pack_access` is set to "none" E. Taking an AWR snapshot in a RAC database captures data from all instances that have the database opened. Answer: A, D, E Explanation: AWR snapshots are collect at database level. Oracle extends the AWR tool for RAC databases by adding the possibility to generate snapshots reports against the whole cluster database, some database instances of the cluster database, a specific database instance of the cluster database, statistics for a specific select query. D: `AWR_SNAPSHOT_TIME_OFFSET` specifies an offset for the AWR snapshot start time. AWR snapshots normally start at the top of the hour (12:00, 1:00, 2:00, and so on). This parameter allows DBAs to specify an offset for the AWR snapshot start time.
