A bootkit is similar to a rootkit except the malware infects the master boot record on a hard disk.

Malicious software such as bootkits or rootkits typically require administrative privileges to be installed. Therefore, one method of preventing such attacks is to remove administrative access for local users. A common source of malware infections is portable USB flash drives. The flash drives are often plugged into less secure computers such as a user's home computer and then taken to work and plugged in to a work computer. We can prevent this from happening by restricting or disabling access to USB devices.
