NEW QUESTION: 4 Which statement about the configuration and application of port access control lists is true?
A. At Layer 2, a MAC address PACL takes precedence over any existing Layer 3 PACL.
B. PACLs are not supported on EtherChannel interfaces.
C. PACLs can be applied in the inbound or outbound direction of a Layer 2 physical interface.
D. When you apply a port ACL to a trunk port, the ACL filters traffic on all VLANs present on the trunk port.
Answer: D

Explanation: The PACL feature provides the ability to perform access control on specific Layer 2 ports. A Layer 2 port is a physical LAN or trunk port that belongs to a VLAN. PACLs are applied only on the ingress traffic. The PACL feature is supported only in hardware (PACLs are not applied to any packets routed in software). When you create a PACL, an entry is created in the ACL TCAM. You can use the show tcam counts command to see how much TCAM space is available. The PACL feature does not affect Layer 2 control packets received on the port.
