NEW QUESTION: 1In SIP, the so-called transaction refers to the client sends a request to the server and the server sends back all responses to the client.A. TrueB. FalseAnswer: A

NEW QUESTION: 2For an entity that does not receive governmental financial assistance, an auditor's standard report on financial statements generally would not refer to:A. Significant estimates made by management.B. The entity's internal control.C. Management's responsibility for the financial statements.D. An assessment of the entity's accounting principles.Answer: BExplanation:Explanation/Reference:Explanation:Choice "D" is correct. The auditor's standard report generally does not make reference to the entity's internal control. Note that for an entity that does receive governmental financial assistance, a written report on internal control is required. Also, note that an auditor may (but is not required to) expand his or her audit report to clarify that a GAAS audit does not require the level of testing and reporting on internal control that is required for issuers.Choices "A" and "B" are incorrect. The scope paragraph states that, "an audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management."Choice "C" is incorrect. The introductory paragraph states that the "financial statements are the responsibility of the company's management."
