NEW QUESTION: 2 Which of the following statements are true about the GNU GPL? Each correct answer represents a complete solution. Choose all that apply. A. GNU GPL is the first and foremost copyleft license. B. GNU GPL is the most widely used free software license. C. GNU GPL grants the recipients of a computer program the rights of free software definition. D. GPL stands for Generate and Promote Licenses. Answer: A,B,C Explanation: GNU General Public License (GNU GPL, or simply GPL) is the most widely used free software license, originally written by Richard Stallman for the GNU project. GPL is the first and foremost copyleft license, which means that derived works can only be distributed under the same license terms. Under this philosophy, the GPL grants the recipients of a computer program the rights of the free software definition and uses copyleft to ensure the freedoms are preserved, even when the work is changed or added to. This is in distinction to permissive free software licenses, of which the BSD licenses are the standard examples. Answer option C is incorrect. GPL stands for General Public License.
