NEW QUESTION: 4Your newly appointed Cisco trainee wants to know which of the following you would describe as characteristics of CDP. What will your reply be? (Choose two.) A. It is media and protocol independent B. It uses the UDP protocol C. It reports on directly connected Cisco devices like routers, bridges, switches and access servers D. It does not use UTP protocol E. It supports any SNMP device F. It uses RMON to gather utilization statistics Answer: A,C Explanation: The CDP is a Cisco proprietary layer two protocol that is media- and protocol-independent, and runs on all Cisco-manufactured equipment including the following: 1. routers 2. bridges 3. access servers 4. switches A Cisco device enabled with CDP sends out periodic interface updates to a multicast address in order to make itself known to neighbors. Since it is a layer two protocol, these packets (frames) are not routed. Use of SNMP with the CDP MIB allows network management applications to learn the device type and the SNMP agent address of neighboring devices, and to send SNMP queries to those devices. CDP uses the CISCO-CDP-MIB. Reference: <http://www.cisco.com/en/US/tech/CK648/CK3>
