NEW QUESTION: 1The risk manager at a small bank wants to use quantitative analysis to determine the ALE of running a business system at a location which is subject to fires during the year. A risk analyst reports to the risk manager that the asset value of the business system is $120,000 and, based on industry data, the exposure factor to fires is only 20% due to the fire suppression system installed at the site. Fires occur in the area on average every four years. Which of the following is the ALE?A. $6,000B. $30,000C. $96,000D. $24,000Answer: A

Explanation:ExplanationSingle Loss Expectancy (SLE) is mathematically expressed as: Asset value (AV) x Exposure Factor (EF) $SLE = AV \times EF = $120,000 \times 20\% = $24,000$ (this is over 4 years) Thus $ALE = $24,000 / 4 = $6,000$ References:
