Explanation: Prevent a Virtual Machine User or Process from Disconnecting Devices in the vSphere Web Client Users and processes without root or administrator privileges within virtual machines have the capability to connect or disconnect devices, such as network adaptors and CD-ROM drives, as well as the ability to modify device settings. To increase virtual machine security, remove these devices. If you do not want to permanently remove a device, you can prevent a virtual machine user or process from connecting or disconnecting the device from within the guest operating system.
Value: isolation.device.connectable.disable true isolation.device.edit.disable true
