NEW QUESTION: 3 Mark works as a Network Administrator for We-are-secure Inc. He finds that the We-aresecure server has been infected with a virus. He presents to the company a report that describes the symptoms of the virus. A summary of the report is given below: This virus has a dual payload, as the first payload of the virus changes the first megabyte of the hard drive to zero. Due to this, the contents of the partition tables are deleted and the computer hangs. The second payload replaces the code of the flash BIOS with garbage values. This virus spreads under the Portable Executable File Format under Windows 95, Windows 98, and Windows ME. Which of the following viruses has the symptoms as the one described above?
A. I Love You
B. Nimda
C. Melissa
D. Chernobyl
Answer: D
Explanation: The Chernobyl (CIH) virus is a good example of a dual payload virus. Since the first payload of the virus changes the first megabyte of a computer's hard drive to zero, the contents of the partition tables are deleted, resulting in the computer hanging. The second payload of CIH replaces the code of the flash BIOS with garbage values so that the flash BIOS is unable to give a warning, the end result being that the user is incapable of changing the BIOS settings. CIH spreads under the Portable Executable file format under Windows 95, Windows 98, and Windows ME.
Answer A is incorrect. The I LOVE YOU virus is a VBScript virus in which a victim gets an email attachment titled as "I Love You" with an attachment file named as "Love-Letter-For-You.txt.vbs". When the victim clicks on this attachment, the virus script infects the victim's computer. The virus first scans system's memory for passwords, which are sent back to the virus' creator. In the next step, the virus replicates itself and sends its copy to each address in the victim's Outlook address book. Finally, the virus corrupts files with extensions .vbs, .vbe, .js, .css, .wsh, .sct, .hta, .jpg, .jpeg, .mp2, and .mp3 by overwriting them with a copy of itself. Answer D is incorrect. The Melissa virus infects Word 97 documents and the NORMAL.DOT file of Word 97 and Word 2000. This macro virus resides in word documents containing one macro named as "Melissa". The Melissa virus has the ability to spread itself very fast by using an e-mail. When the document infected by the Melissa virus is opened for the first time, the virus checks whether or not the user has installed Outlook on the computer. If it finds the Outlook, it sends e-mail to 50 addresses from the address book of the Outlook. This virus can spread only by using the Outlook. This virus is also known as W97M/Melissa, Kwyjibo, and Word97.Melissa. Answer B is incorrect. Nimda is a mass mailing virus that spreads itself in attachments named README.EXE. It affects Windows 95, 98, ME, NT4, and Windows 2000 users. Nimda uses the Unicode exploit to infect IIS Web servers.
