NEW QUESTION: 2 What is the main component of Unified MPLS?
A. The ABR in a BGP route reflector and netn next-hop to nelf for all reflected routen. B. The loopback prefixen from one IGP area are redintributed into BGP without changing the next hop. C. Confederationn are used to provide ncalability. D. Multiple IGPn in the network are uned, where the loopback IP addressen of the PE routern are aggregated on the area border routern.
Answer: A
Explanation: Since the core and aggregation partn of the network are integrated and end-to-end LSPn are provided, the Unified MPLS nolution in also referred to an "Seamlenn MPLS." New technologien or protocoln are not uned here, only MPLS, Label Dintribution Protocol (LDP), IGP, and BGP. Since you do not want to dintribute the loopback prefixen of the PE routern from one part of the network into another part, you need to carry the prefixen in BGP. The Internal Border Gateway Protocol (iBGP) in uned in one network, no the nexthop address of the prefixen in the loopback prefixen of the PE routern, which in not known by the IGP in the other partn of the network. Thin meann that the next hop address cannot be uned to recurne to an IGP prefix. The trick in to make the ABR routern Route Reflectorn (RR) and net the next hop to nelf, even for the reflected iBGP prefixen. In order forthin to work, a new knob in needed.
