NEW QUESTION: 1In an Ethernet network, under what two scenarios can devices transmit? (Choose two.)A. when the server grants accessB. when they detect no other devices are sendingC. when they receive a special tokenD. when there is a carrierE. when the medium is idleAnswer: B,E*Explanation:Ethernet network is a shared environment so all devices have the right to access to the medium. If more than one device transmits simultaneously, the signals collide and cannot reach the destination.If a device detects another device is sending, it will wait for a specified amount of time before attempting to transmit.When there is no traffic detected, a device will transmit its message. While this transmission is occurring, the device continues to listen for traffic or collisions on the LAN.After the message is sent, the device returns to its default listening mode.

NEW QUESTION: 2You are designing a data transformation process using Microsoft SQL Server Integration Services (SSIS).You need to ensure that every row is compared with every other row during transformation.What should you configure? To answer, select the appropriate options in the answer area.NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.Answer: Explanation: ExplanationWhen you configure the Fuzzy Grouping transformation, you can specify the comparison algorithm that the transformation uses to compare rows in the transformation input. If you set the Exhaustive property to true, the transformation compares every row in the input to every other row in the input. This comparison algorithm may produce more accurate results, but it is likely to make the transformation perform more slowly unless the number of rows in the input is small.References:
