NEW QUESTION: 2 You are a Business Analyst for your organization, and you're working with Mary. Mary wants to know what you need to complete the process of planning the business analysis approach if you're already the business analyst for your organization. Why is it important to complete the plan business analysis approach?
A. This task describes the amount of time needed for the business analysis approach.
B. This task describes the amount of budget needed for the requirements elicitation.
C. This task describes how to select an approach for performing business analysis.
D. This task describes the processes the business analyst will or will not do based on the time and budget available.
Answer: C
Explanation:
Explanation/Reference: The plan business analysis approach is required to select an approach that will perform business analysis. This approach helps to find out the following: Which stakeholders need to be involved in the decision? Who will be consulted regarding and informed of the approach? What is the rationale for using it? A is incorrect. This task does not address the schedule for the business analysis duties, just the approach the business analyst will be taking. While the task does describe when the tasks will take place, there's not an actual schedule coordinated at this point. B is incorrect. This task does not address the budget for the business analysis duties, just the approach the business analyst will be taking. D is incorrect. While this answer does address the business analysis approach, it doesn't qualify as there's not a schedule or budget consideration.
