NEW QUESTION: 1Your network contains an Active Directory domain named adatum.com. The network contains two servers named File1 and File2 that run Windows Server 2012. File1 has the Multipath I/O (MPIO) feature installed. File 2 has the iSCSI Target Server role service installed and is configured to have five iSCSI virtual disks. From the MPIO snap-in on File1, you add support for iSCSI devices. You need to ensure that File1 can connect to the five iSCSI disks. The solution must ensure that File1 uses MPIO to access the disks. Which three actions should you perform? Each correct answer presents part of the solution. A. On File2, add the initiator ID of File1. B. On File1, from the iSCSI Initiator Properties, click Connect and then select Enable multi-path. C. On File2, from the iSCSI Initiator Properties, click Connect, and then select Enable multi-path. D. On File1, install the iSCSI Target Server role service. E. On File1, add the initiator ID of File2. Answer: A,B,D Explanation: Explanation/Reference: References: <https://blogs.technet.microsoft.com/filecab/2012/05/21/introduction-of-iscsi-target-in-windows-server-2012/>

NEW QUESTION: 2How many triggers must a function have? A. One B. Zero C. Two Answer: A

NEW QUESTION: 3Your company has a main office and a branch office. Your network contains a single Active Directory domain. The functional level of the domain is Windows Server 2008 R2. An Active Directory site exists for each office. All servers run Windows Server 2008 R2. You plan to deploy file servers in each office. You need to design a file sharing strategy to meet the following requirements: Users in both offices must be able to access the same files. Users in both offices must use the same Universal Naming Convention (UNC) path to access files. The design must reduce the amount of bandwidth used to access files. Users must be able to access files even if a server fails. What should you include in your design?A. A standalone DFS namespace that uses replication.B. A multisite failover cluster that contains a server located in the main office and another server located in the branch office.C. A Network Load Balancing cluster that contains a server located in the main office and another server located in the branch office.D. A domain-based DFS namespace that uses replication.Answer: D

Explanation: Explanation
Explanation/Reference: DISTRIBUTED FILE SYSTEM DFS Namespaces enables you to group shared folders that are located on different servers into one or more logically structured namespaces. Each namespace appears to users as a single shared folder with a series of subfolders. Domain-based DFS namespace allows to use the same UNC path to access files. High Availability of DFS namespace can be achieved by 1. Standalone DFS namespace: Created on a failover cluster by using the Cluster Administrator snap-in. 2. Domain-based DFS namespace: Creating multiple root targets on NON-clustered file servers or on the local storage of the nodes of server clusters. All root targets must belong to the same domain. (Moreover, at least 2 domain controllers are required to ensure high availability as the metadata of domain-based DFS namespace is stored in the domain controller)
