NEW QUESTION: 3 An environment has twenty dispatchers. The administrator wants to change one property to the same value for all dispatchers. How can that be accomplished?
A. This cannot be accomplished unless the property value is changed for each dispatcher.
B. This can be accomplished by selecting all dispatchers at once and changing the desired property.
C. This can be accomplished by changing the desired property for the configuration.
D. This can be accomplished if all dispatchers are put inside a folder.
Answer: D
Explanation: Grouping dispatchers in configuration folders. Configuration folders are useful to organize dispatchers if your installation includes many dispatchers. You can group dispatchers so that you can apply the same configuration settings once to all the dispatchers and services in the folder. Note: You can have more than one dispatcher in your IBM Cognos environment. In such distributed installations one dispatcher is configured for every instance of the Content Manager or Application Tier Components that are installed and configured in your environment.
