NEW QUESTION: 4An administrator has to determine host operating systems on the network and has deployed a transparentproxy. Which of the following fingerprint types would this solution use?A. ActiveB. PacketC. PortD. PassiveAnswer: DExplanation:Section: Threats and VulnerabilitiesExplanation/Reference:Explanation:TCP/IP stack fingerprinting is the passive collection of configuration attributes from a remote device duringstandard layer 4 network communications. The combination of parameters may then be used to infer theremote machine's operating system (aka, OS fingerprinting), or incorporated into a device fingerprint. Certain parameters within the TCP protocol definition are left up to the implementation. Different operatingsystems and different versions of the same operating system set different defaults for these values. Bycollecting and examining these values, one may differentiate among various operating systems, andimplementations of TCP/IP. Just inspecting the Initial TTL and window size TCP/IP fields is often enough inorder to successfully identify an operating system, which eases the task of performing manual OSfingerprinting.Passive OS fingerprinting is the examination of a passively collected sample of packets from a host inorder to determine its operating system platform. It is called passive because it doesn't involvecommunicating with the host being examined.In this question, the proxy will use passive fingerprinting because the proxy is a 'transparent proxy'. It isn'tseen by the computer.
