NEW QUESTION: 2Which of the following is the MOST important reason why information security objectives should be defined?A. Consistency with applicable standardsB. Management sign-off and support initiativesC. Tool for measuring effectivenessD. General understanding of goalsAnswer: C*Explanation:ExplanationThe creation of objectives can be used in part as a source of measurement of the effectiveness of information security management, which feeds into the overall governance. General understanding of goals and consistency with applicable standards are useful, but are not the primary reasons for having clearly defined objectives. Gaining management understanding is important, but by itself will not provide the structure for governance.

NEW QUESTION: 3Deploying a wildcard certificate is one strategy to:A. Reduce the certificate management burden.B. Increase the certificate's encryption key length.C. Secure the certificate's private key.D. Extend the renewal date of the certificate.Answer: A*Explanation:Explanation/Reference:Explanation:A wildcard certificate is a public key certificate which can be used with multiple subdomains of a domain.This saves money and reduces the management burden of managing multiple certificates, one for each subdomain.A single Wildcard certificate for *.example.com, will secure all these domains:payment.example.com contact.example.comlogin-secure.example.comwww.example.comBecause the wildcard only covers one level of subdomains (the asterisk doesn't match full stops), these domains would not be valid for the certificate:test.login.example.com
