Mr. Crochety recently got his hands on a business publication and read about the tax-free interest paid by municipal bonds. He calls you and instructs you to sell his other investments and invest all his money in a municipal bond portfolio, so that "the government doesn't get any more of my hard-earned money." You tell Mr. Crochety that you don't believe this is a wise move because he's in such a low tax bracket that municipal bonds are not a good investment for him, but he is insistent. Based on these facts, you should A. call Mr. Crochety's relatives and suggest they have him examined for mental instability. B. have Mr. Crochety sign a statement of investment policy that indicates that this transaction is being executed on the client's instructions and that you have advised the client against it. C. ignore Mr. Crochety's instruction since it is not in his best interest. D. require Mr. Crochety to sign an affidavit of liability waiver, indicating that you will not be held responsible for any adverse consequences of this decision. Answer: B Explanation: Given that you have advised Mr. Crochety that this is not a wise move and he still insists on it, you should protect yourself by getting it in writing. NEW QUESTION: 2 Which two ESMTP commands are supported by the ASA inspection engine? (Choose two.) A. ONEX B. ETRN C. ATRND D. LINKE E. VERBF F. SOML Answer: B, F Explanation: ESMTP is an enhancement to the SMTP protocol and is similar in most respects to SMTP. For convenience, the term SMTP is used in this document to refer to both SMTP and ESMTP. The application inspection process for extended SMTP is similar to SMTP application inspection and includes support for SMTP sessions. Most commands used in an extended SMTP session are the same as those used in an SMTP session but an ESMTP session is considerably faster and offers more options related to reliability and security, such as delivery status notification.

Extended SMTP application inspection adds support for these extended SMTP commands, including AUTH, EHLO, ETRN, HELP, SAML, SEND, SOML, STARTTLS, and VRFY. Along with the support for seven RFC 821 commands (DATA, HELO, MAIL, NOOP, QUIT, RCPT, RSET), the ASA supports a total of fifteen SMTP commands. Reference:
