NEW QUESTION: 2What would be the name of a Logical or Virtual Table dynamically generated to restrict the information a user can access in a database?A. Database securityB. Database shadowingC. Database Management systemD. Database viewsAnswer: D
Explanation:Database views; Database views are mechanisms that restrict access to the information that a user can access in a database. Source: KRUTZ, Ronald L. & VINES, Russel D., The CISSP Prep Guide: Mastering the Ten Domains of Computer Security, 2001, John Wiley & Sons, Page 35. Wikipedia has a detailed explanation as well: In database theory, a view is a virtual or logical table composed of the result set of a query. Unlike ordinary tables (base tables) in a relational database, a view is not part of the physical schema: it is a dynamic, virtual table computed or collated from data in the database. Changing the data in a table alters the data shown in the view. Views can provide advantages over tables; They can subset the data contained in a table. They can join and simplify multiple tables into a single virtual table. Views can act as aggregated tables, where aggregated data (sum, average etc.) are calculated and presented as part of the data. Views can hide the complexity of data, for example a view could appear as Sales2000 or Sales2001, transparently partitioning the actual underlying table. Views do not incur any extra storage overhead. Depending on the SQL engine used, views can provide extra security. Limit the exposure to which a table or tables are exposed to outer world. Just like functions (in programming) provide abstraction, views can be used to create abstraction. Also, just like functions, views can be nested, thus one view can aggregate data from other views. Without the use of views it would be much harder to normalise databases above second normal form. Views can make it easier to create lossless join decomposition.

NEW QUESTION: 3 You create a new replication policy in Azure for the physical servers. You successfully complete the following actions: * Create and configure a Recovery Services vault. * Ensure Internet connectivity. * Ensure that the required URLs are reachable. * Ensure that the host server requirements are met. * Ensure that the servers marked for replication comply with the requirements of the Azure virtual machines. You need to replicate the on-premises servers to Azure. Which four actions should you perform in sequence? To answer, move the appropriate actions from the list of actions to the answer area and arrange them in the correct order. NOTE: More than one order of answer choices is correct. You will receive credit for any of the correct orders you select. Answer: Explanation: Explanation Step 1: Install the Azure Site Recovery Provider Step 2: Deploy the OVF template Set up the source environment. Download the OVF template for the configuration server, and import the template in VMware. Note: Open Virtualization Format (OVF) template is an industry standard software distribution model for virtual machine templates. Starting January 2018, configuration server for the VMware to Azure scenario will be available to all our customers as an OVF template. Step 3: Associate the configuration server to the replication policy Associate the replication policy with your on-premises configuration server. Step 4: Enable replication References: <https://docs.microsoft.com/en-us/azure/site-recovery/vmware-azure-set-up-replication>
