You are designing two stored procedures named SP1 and SP2 that have the following requirements:- Prevent data read by SP1 from being modified by other active processes.- Prevent SP2 from performing dirty reads. You need to recommend the isolation level for each stored procedure. The solution must maximize concurrency. Which isolation levels should you recommend? To answer, drag the appropriate isolation level to the correct stored procedure in the answer area. Answer:

Explanation:ExplanationSP1 - repeatable read; SP2 - read committed- REPEATABLE READThis isolation level includes the guarantees given by SNAPSHOT isolation level. In addition, REPEATABLE READ guarantees that for any row that is read by the transaction, at the time the transaction commits the row has not been changed by any other transaction. Every read operation in the transaction is repeatable up to the end of the transaction.- Committed Read is SQL Server's default isolation level. It ensures that an operation will never read data another application has changed but not yet committed.
