http://www.cisco.com/c/en/us/td/docs/switches/datacenter/aci/apic/sw/1-x/api/rest/b_API_RESTful_API_User_Guide/b_IFC_RESTful_API_User_Guide_chapter_0100.html: Authentication to the REST API for username/password-based authentication uses a special subset of request URIs, including aaaLogin, aaaLogout and aaaRefresh as the Dn target of a POST operation. Their payloads contain a simple XML or JSON payload containing the MO representation of an aaaUser object with attributes name and pwd defining the username and password, for example: <aaaUser name='admin' pwd='insieme'/>. The response to the POSTs will contain an authentication token as both a Set-Cookie header as well as an attribute to the aaaLogin object in the response named token, for which the XPath is /imdata/aaaLogin/@token if encoded as XML. Subsequent operations on the REST API can use this token value as a Cookie named "APIC-cookie" to have future requests authenticated.
