NEW QUESTION: 1 Which of the following risks could result from inadequate software baselining? A. Scope creep B. inadequate controls C. Sign-off delays D. Software integrity violations
Answer: A
Explanation: Explanation/Reference: Explanation: A software baseline is the cut-off point in the design and development of a system beyond which additional requirements or modifications to the design do not or cannot occur without undergoing formal strict procedures for approval based on a business cost-benefit analysis. Failure to adequately manage the requirements of a system through baselining can result in a number of risks. Foremost among these risks is scope creep, the process through which requirements change during development. Choices B, C and D may not always result, but choice A is inevitable.

NEW QUESTION: 3 You use a recovery catalog for maintaining your database backups. You execute the following command: $rman TARGET / CATALOG rman / cat@catdbRMAN > BACKUP VALIDATE DATABASE ARCHIVELOG ALL; Which two statements are true? (Choose two.) A. Checks are performed to confirm whether all database files exist in correct locations B. Checks are performed for physical corruptions. C. Backup sets containing both data files and archive logs are created. D. Corrupted blocks, if any, are repaired. E. Checks are performed for logical corruptions.
Answer: A, B
Explanation: Explanation/Reference: Explanation: B (not C): You can validate that all database files and archived redo logs can be backed up by running a command as follows: RMAN> BACKUP VALIDATE DATABASE ARCHIVELOG ALL; This form of the command would check for physical corruption. To check for logical corruption, RMAN> BACKUP VALIDATE CHECK LOGICAL DATABASE ARCHIVELOG ALL; D: You can use the VALIDATE keyword of the BACKUP command to do the following: Check datafiles for physical and logical corruption Confirm that all database files exist and are in the correct locations. Note: You can use the VALIDATE option of the BACKUP command to verify that database files exist and are in the correct locations (D), and have no physical or logical corruptions that would prevent RMAN from creating backups of them. When performing a BACKUP...VALIDATE, RMAN reads the files to be backed up in their entirety, as it would during a real backup. It does not, however, actually produce any backupsets or image copies (Not A, not E).
