NEW QUESTION: 2You develop an ASP.NET Core microservice on a Windows Docker image. The code for this resides in a VSTS Git repository.You create an Azure Service Fabric cluster connection. Your build engineer requires that all continuous integration build definitions must be approved before release definitions are created.You need to enable continuous integration for the microservice.Which three actions should you perform in sequence? To answer, move the appropriate actions from the list of actions to answer area and arrange them in the correct order.Answer: Explanation:ExplanationStep 1: Enable the Continuous Integration triggerTo make sure that DevOps picks up new commits and builds them, go to the Triggers tab and enable the Enable continuous integration checkbox.Step 2: Create a build definition by using the Service Fabric Application template Developers and testers can easily and quickly provision production-like dev and test environments based on Docker by using templates from Azure. Step 3: Add a task with the command "docker deploy" in the build definition Thanks to the Microsoft VSTS Docker Deploy task shown in figure, you can now also deploy to DC/OS by just using your familiar docker-compose.yml file because Microsoft will be performing that "translation" for you (from your docker-compose.yml file to other formats needed by DC/OS). NEW QUESTION: 3 Refer to the graphic. R1 is unable to establish an OSPF neighbor relationship with R3. What are possible reasons for this problem? (Choose two.) A. A static route has been configured from R1 to R3 and prevents the neighbor adjacency from being established. B. The hello and dead interval timers are not set to the same values on R1 and R3. C. All of the routers need to be configured for backbone Area 1. D. EIGRP is also configured on these routers with a lower administrative distance. E. R1 and R3 are configured in different areas. F. R1 and R2 are the DR and BDR, so OSPF will not establish neighbor adjacency with R3. Answer: B,E
Explanation: This question is to examine the conditions for OSPF to create neighborhood. So as to make the two routers become neighbors, each router must be matched with the following items: 1. The area ID and its types; 2. Hello and failure time interval timer; 3. OSPF Password (Optional);
